Summary

I am passionate about building products and leading teams. Being a chemical engineer i started a tech company while I was pursuing my UG. I along with my team have won major Hackathons, product development events revolving around analytics and AI. Some of which are FINNOVATICA 2018 and 2019 editions, startup with IBM catalyst program and being a part of India's first legaltech incubator Prarambh ( A Cyril Amarchand Mangaldas initiative.)

I like exploring and building products which involves data driven decision making and this led to LegalMind India's first litigation Analytics platform that helps legal professionals to understand the legal data in a whole new way.

With coming years I would also like to explore data driven decision making in corporate governance and policy framing.

In this world where data is utilized to optimize capitalism and profit, i strongly believe that it certainly can be used to make lives of common individual's lives easier.
